"A maiden never bold."

History of the Class of '31

IN the early fall of 1927 Fayetteville High School suffered the invasion of a mighty horde of mischievous little imps. This band was 161 in number and was known as the Freshman Class. The Freshmen, although they had confidently expected to conquer the entire school, soon decided to settle down to (more or less) peaceful lives and to abandon temporarily all thought of conquest and be as much as possible like the other classes of the school. They soon observed that these other classes all had officers, so the leading lights of the class got together and called a meeting of all Freshmen. This meeting resulted in the election of the following officers: Roy Forehand, President; Murray Howell, Vice President; Reed Devane, Secretary; and Kate Bailey, Treasurer. The little Freshmen were also represented on the athletic field with John Barlow and George Kistler on the Football team, and Dorothy Burger and Mildred Boone on the Girls' Field Hockey Team. Then the days grew into weeks and the weeks into months and in a seemingly short while we had reached the first milestone of our journey.

After an absence of three months the Freshmen, now known as Sophomores, returned to the school feeling like kings and queens preparing to show the new Freshmen their proper place. The Class soon reorganized with Charles Sutton as President; Margaret Kirkpatrick, Vice President; and Roy Forehand, Secretary and Treasurer. This year the Class was represented in the statistics. Nannie Biggs having been chosen "Most Musical," and Aileen Deal took the title of F. H. S.'s prettiest. Again, too, the Class was represented in Athletics, William Scott, George Kistler, and Roscoe Sandlin, in Football, and Nannie Biggs, Irene Buckingham, and Mildred Boone, in Basketball.

The third year was entered and again the name of the Class was changed. They were now known as Juniors. "Only one more year," they thought, "and we'll have the world at our feet." As usual, the first big event of the year was the election of officers. Charles Sutton was elected President; Claude Rankin, Vice President; Anne Tillinghast, Secretary; and Rebecca Jackson, Treasurer. When the Seniors elected the marshals it developed that Murray Howell headed the list. Under him were Edna Wheeler, Nannie Biggs, Dorothy Burger, Irene Buckingham, Charles Sutton, and Everett Bryan. This proved to be a big year in Athletics for the Class. In Football the Class was represented by Charles Sutton, Charles Riddle, Earl Riddle, Charles Turlington, William Scott, Roscoe Sandlin, and George Kistler; in Girls' Basketball by Nannie Biggs, Irene Buckingham, Annette Ward, Mildred Boone, Anne Tillinghast, and Estelle Riddle.

Another vacation ended and those members of the Class who had not fallen by the wayside returned to the school, proudly bearing the name of Seniors. At last dignified Seniors! The height of glory had been reached! For their last set of officers the Class chose Murray Howell, President; Julian Metz, Vice President; June Williams, Secretary; and Ronald McNeil, Treasurer. The Glee Club was headed by Edna Wheeler with Elizabeth Crane, Secretary, and Rebecca Jackson, Treasurer. We showed up well in Athletics with Earl Riddle, Captain of the Football team, and Mildred Boone, Captain of the Girls' Basketball team.

We find that our Senior year is a realization of dreams, but nevertheless its hard to realize that we are Seniors and so soon our high school days will be over. After all it is the spirit of the discourse that counts, and in spite of our mistakes and our failures we will carry with us through life cherished memories and a lasting appreciation of the many good and fine things that have come into our lives during the four years of our life in old F. H. S. But how often in our after-life will we look back over these four years and live again our high school days, for; "Our finest hope is finest memory."

To F. H. S.—Our Love and Loyalty.

ARTICLE II

To the Faculty—Our thanks for the many advantages they have given us, and their untiring efforts to make our school life both pleasant and profitable.

ARTICLE III

To the Trustees—Our inexpressable appreciation for the many privileges they have given us by their labor and generosity.

ARTICLE IV

To Mr. Howell—Our appreciation for his interest and coöperation.

ARTICLE V

To Mr. Poole—Our sincere appreciation for his deep interest in our future undertakings.

SECTION II

ARTICLE I

To the Juniors—Our many "Senior Privileges," also our desks with their many works of art.

To the Sophomores—The privilege of planning and paying for the Junior-Senior Banquet.

To the Freshman—Deaf ears, that all the advice both good and bad might pass through their ears unheeded.

SECTION III

We, as individuals, knowing the urgent need of them by others, do dispose of, as stated herein below, our most cherished and hard-earned personal possession.

"I, Murray Howell, do will and bequeath my efforts to keep order in the Senior Class to the next President."

"I, Dorothy Burger, do will and bequeath my conceit to Louise Holland."

"I, Ben Rose, do will and bequeath my ability to argue to anyone who can get away with it."

"I, Flossie Fleishman, do will and bequeath my vanity case and lipstick, together with the skill of applying to Katy Tew."

"I, Geddie Monroe, do will and bequeath to Joe Pinkston, one set of brains, good as new, never been used."

"I, Louise Nimocks, do will and bequeath my flirtatious ways to Mary Wells."

"I, Emeline Burkett, do will and bequeath my artistic ability to Kitty Maxwell."

"I, Kathryn Jenkins, do will and bequeath my chewing gum to Mary Rivers Parker, (she will find it just inside my locker door)."

"I, Bascom Brett, do will and bequeath one comb case and a book on "How to be Beautiful" to James Lawrence Lee."

"I, Johnsie Mauldin, do will and bequeath my Hollywood figure to Doris Rose."

"I, Romyen Moss, do will and bequeath my deep bass voice to Leo Musselwhite."

"I, Annette Ward, do will and bequeath my ever-present giggle to Bernard Rose."

"I, Virginia Barringer, do will and bequeath my ultra-sophistication to Rachel Brothers."

Signed and Sealed this the thirty-first day of March, we the class of nineteen hundred and thirty-one, do hereby declare this document to be our last will and testament.

Prophecy of the Class of '31

THE night was clear and warm. The stars hung low and the moon was gone. In the distance I heard the howling of the coyote. I was alone. The embers of my campfire were slowly dying. I lay staring up at the heavens.

Suddenly I felt myself lifted—lifted—lifted through the sky. There was a roar in my ears—the mighty whirl of an airplane propellar. On through the sky until at last, like a mighty bird, we swooped down to the earth.

Where was I? Ah, the familiar tip of the Washington Monument. I am in Washington, but who is this trusty gentleman who has so safely piloted me to my destination? No other than Eugene Plummer, a member of the class of '31.

Memories rushed through my mind and I was destined to recall many former members of the class ere my trip had ended.

As I alighted from the airship, a snow white plane was swiftly ascending. An attendant mentioned the fact that it was Mildred Boone, famous Trans-Atlantic flyer.

I had not noticed my companions as we flew over towns and fields, but now I turned to see them as I waited for my baggage.

A familiar face—oh yes—Mlle. Emeline Burkett designer of costumes for Paramount. She told me that Kathryn Jenkins was being starred in "Oh Yeah" a popular play written by Daisy Blue Bryan. Jack McAllister was directing and was making a splendid success of it.

I bought a paper and read as my taxi, driven by David Brown, wound its way to the White House. I noted that the president, Claude Rankin, had hired Anne Tillinghast as his secretary. Charles Turlington had just taken a seat in Congress.

On the sport page I noticed that Julian Metz had recently won the International Tennis Championship. Ruth George's name was prominent among the best known golfers in Florida.

I visited with Billie Don Melvin, first woman Senator from North Carolina. She and I went to a reception given for La Motte King, ambassador to France, and his French bride.

At Mount Vernon I saw Vera Bulla and Flora Applewhite. They were collecting information for a revised edition of their textbook on American history.

I flew to New York and attended a Night Club—the most exclusive in the city. Marilyn Culbreth was hostess. On the program for the evening was Florence Fleishman, well known specialty singer. In the chorus I recognized Eva Goff, Mary Hobbs, Annie Owen, Edna Wheeler, Irene Buckingham, and Mildred Jernigan. The Orchestra leader was James Carpenter and Madeleine Clark was a "WOW" as pianist.

Walking up Broadway I saw in bright lights "Delma Leatherwood and Helen Bishop" co-stars in the latest play of Eolin Porter. Ralph Mullinix had just bought the theater, one of a chain.

In the Brooklyn Navy Yard who should I see but Roscoe Sandlin and William Evans, chief petty officers in the U. S. Navy.

I flew to Baltimore and saw Frances Moore and Mildred King, head nurses at Johns Hopkins.

In North Carolina, again after many years. I went to Chapel Hill—Annette Ward was acting as a chaperone at a dance given by the Phi Alpha fraternity. Strolling over the campus I bumped into Professor Thomas Sutton who was deeply engrossed in "Languages of the Ages" by Ronald McNeill.

I was attracted to Durham by the prospect of hearing the Rhodes Scholar, Ben Rose. While there I attended a concert by the great violinist, Christine Derby. Dorothy Burger was her capable manager.

The Governor, Murray Howell, had helped Fayetteville by building the third lock on the Cape Fear. But Fayetteville is the same in that it still has "Ye Ole Market House."

I had a short chat with John S. Armfield, Bishop of East Carolina. He was making a series of addresses on the Philippine Islands. Monroe Evans is teaching French in dear old F. H. S. and Mary Polick is head of the Commercial Department.

I went into the bank to draw a check and met Annie Mae Pate. She is secretary to the president of the bank, Harold Cameron. McPhail Geddie, cashier, very kindly cashed my check.

I decided I needed a new dress and walked into a very exclusive shop. Rebecca Jackson owned it and her models were Lillian Baker, Allene Deal and Shirley Barrett. Lessie Mae Malloy was her Paris buyer.

Odell West and Fletcher Newell are operators of ships, belonging to Bill Scott, which go to Wilmington with freight and passengers.

Dorothy Thompson, president of the U. D. C., had just completed a history of Fayetteville. Louise Nimocks had been an efficient helper.

I heard of the sensational operation performed on Bill Crawley by Dr. Cecil Alligood with Urbana Cromartie as his head nurse.

The Fayetteville Observer of which Roscoe Strickland was editor, carried an account of Kate Bailey's inheriting $1,000,000 and founding a Girls' Academy. On her teachers' staff she has Nannie Biggs, Elizabeth Crane, and Grace Stringfield.

I went into a beauty parlor to have my hair dressed and to my surprise I saw that Mamie Johnson was in charge of the shop. Her skillful assistants were Eleanor Fann and Ruth Phillips.

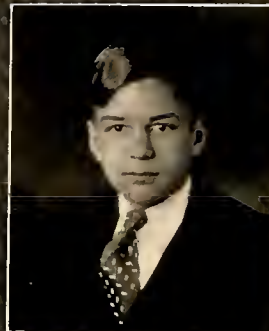

I later went to Over-Hills to a golf tournament. I saw Bert Alabaster and Kenneth Harley, the former the proprietor of the estate and the latter the N.B.C. announcer of the event. Among the outstanding players were John McBennet and Baseom Brett.

The sun was so bright that it hurt my eyes and I rubbed them. To my great astonishment it was morning and the sun had just risen and I was still at my camp. When I went to a fortune teller and told her my dream and asked what it could mean, she told me it was only a fragmentary view into the future of the class of '31.

HISTORY CLUB

LATIN CLUB

Organizations

THE Clubs in high school this year have been very successful.

The History Club under the direction of Miss Ethel Fisher is composed of Seniors especially interested in history and they have made a further study of current topics and subjects of interest. The club made a trip to Raleigh to see the General Assembly in session and other places of interest in the state capital.

The Debating Team, although it didn't come out first in the final contest, has made the entire school feel proud of it. In the triangular debate the team came up against Raleigh and Durham. The negative side, Florence Fleishman and John Armfield, won a two to one decision from Raleigh at Durham, and the affirmative Julian Metz and Ben Rose, lost a two to one decision to Durham at Raleigh. The team was under the supervision of Mrs. R. B. John and Mr. J. W. Coon.

The French Department, headed by Mrs. Madeleine Davis, has had a most successful year, winning the trophy cup for the State-wide French Contest. This cup was won by Effie Hewitt, who got first place over all the French students in the state, Richard Ryan having won third place and Logan Howell having won fifth place makes Fayetteville lead the state for French.

The Glee Club, under the capable direction of Mr. J. D. Hamerick, is composed of about forty-five of the high school's best voices. This club has sung over the radio and before many of Fayetteville's Civic Organizations. The Band has done equally as well.

The Dramatic Club, which is coached by Miss Dorothy Warthen, has lived up to its good reputation. The state Contest play, "The Finger of God," was presented in Lumberton, against Goldsboro and Lumberton and won second place, losing first place to Lumberton. Many fine plays have been presented this year.

The Garden Club, with the help of Mrs. Newberry and Mrs. Quillen, have done much to beautify the school.

The Latin Club, under the supervision of Miss Kate Broadfoot has had a fine year. In the State-wide Latin Contest Fayetteville won honorable mention.

The other clubs that have done excellent work are: The Girls' Athletic Association with Miss Aline Todd, director of Girls' Athletics in charge: The Emily Post Club under Miss Effie Newton and Miss Hattie Campbell: The Taxidermic Club with Miss Propst as leader: The Radio Club, supervised by Mr. Hinson and Mr. Hackuey's Monogram Club.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

AFTER losing the first three practice games the Fayetteville High girls rallied, winning seven out of twelve scheduled games. The Yellow Jackets had a very successful season considering the fact that the squad was practically a new one.

The members of the squad were: Mildred Boone, Capt., Nannie Biggs, Ruth George, Catherine Malpass, Eliza Rose, Priscilla Gainey, Martha Fitzhugh, Mildred Horner, Margaret Britt, Mary Ella Geddie, Urbanna Cromartie, Annette Ward, Grace Stringfield, Anne Tillinghast, Manager, Rose Gainey, Daisy Blue Bryau, Rachel Tomlinson.

Those earning the letter "F" were: Capt. Mildred Boone, Nannie Biggs, Ruth George, Urbanna Cromartie, Mary Ella Geddie, Annette Ward, Grace Stringfield, Rachel Tomlinson, Anne Tillinghast, Manager.

Following are the games played:

	Fayetteville	Opponents
Jan. 9, 1931. Lumberton at Lumberton.....	27	29
Jan. 23, 1931. Lumberton at Fayetteville.....	35	19

FOOTBALL

When the first call was issued for football candidates early in September, about 45 boys reported to Coach T. V. Hackney. Nine lettermen returned: Capt. Earl Riddle, Bill Scott, Roscoe Sandlin, Charles Turlington, and Ben Robinson, linemen; and Charlie Riddle, Cecil Phillips, Bunk Sutton, and George Kistler, backs.

The opening game against Laurinburg was a typical season's opener. They fired the scoring gun first by blocking a Fayetteville punt and falling on it behind the goal line. Fayetteville came back in the second half and Charlie Riddle scored. Fayetteville showed superiority over Laurinburg but failed to score again on account of numerous fumbles, and the game ended 6-6.

In the next contest, with Raeford as the opponent, the Fayetteville offense started clicking, and scored two touchdowns against our old rivals to win 14-0. The Yellow Jackets outplayed Raeford throughout the game.

For the first conference game Fayetteville went to Raleigh to play the strong Raleigh High team, who was anxious to return the licking given them last year. Fayetteville scored a first down through the Raleigh line just after the opening kick-off, the first one made through the Raleigh line this year, but the Raleigh forwards soon stopped the attack. From then on during the first half we played slow football, allowing Raleigh to score twice on long runs by Paul and Dunnaway. We came back strong in the second half and played on even terms for the rest of the game but failed to score. The score was Raleigh 13, Fayetteville 9.

Our fourth game, against Sanford, was a notable victory in that it was the first time we had beaten them in eight years. Fayetteville scored in four minutes and then Sanford more than doubled the score on us in the second quarter with two touchdowns and an extra point. The Yellow Jackets came back strong in the second half to score two touchdowns, Bunk Sutton running 30 yards for the last one with three minutes left in the game. The game ended 18-13.

The most interesting and exciting game of the season was played next when Goldsboro came here. They started off with a strong passing attack, with Mason passing, which netted them two touchdowns, one in the first quarter and another early in the second. Fayetteville scored late in the second quarter and the half ended with the score 12-6 in favor of the Quakers. Fayetteville played the third quarter with Gorge Kistler, a mainstay in the backfield, on the bench with injuries. Mason, Goldsboro's chief threat, was covered well in the second half and the two teams battled on even terms until the closing minutes of play, when Kistler returned to the fray to direct a 60 yard drive to the Goldsboro goal line, Bunk Sutton taking it over with 30 seconds to play. A moment later he crashed through the line for the winning point. Score: Fayetteville 13, Goldsboro 12.

Suffering a let-down after two such thrilling contests as the Sanford and Goldsboro games, the Yellow Jackets played listlessly against Durham to lose 13-0.

Our next game was played in Wilton with the game ending a scoreless tie. The game was played in the shadow of the Wilson goal posts but Fayetteville missed all its chances to score.

In a game with St. Pauls, in which the second team was given a chance to show its ability, a score of 33 to 6 was run up on St. Pauls, their lone marker being made in the final minutes of play.

The Wilmington game was played there in the rain. Fayetteville scored with the first possession of the ball after a long drive down the field, but failed to add the extra point. Another touchdown was missed by inches in the second quarter. Wilmington pushed over a touchdown just as the whistle blew for the half. In the last half, due to the condition of the field, both teams played a defensive game, and the game ended 6-6.

In the final game of the season Fayetteville went to Rocky Mount and suffered a defeat at the hands of the Blackbirds, 13-0. The teams played on even terms all through the game and it was only on two long passes, each netting a touchdown, that Fayetteville was outplayed.

Coach Hackney deserves much praise for his efforts in developing a successful football team in this, his first year in Fayetteville, using an entirely new system of play. Throughout the entire season, whether we won or lost, he was always ready to help and encourage us, and inspire us to play clean, hard football.

Credit should also be given to the public-spirited citizens whose generous contributions enabled us to buy some much needed new uniforms.

At the end of the season stars were awarded to: Capt. E. Riddle and Scott, guards; Sandlin and Turlington, tackles; Robinson, end; and Sutton, C. Riddle, Kistler and Phillips, backs. Letters were awarded to: Williams and McBennett, ends; Hammond and Herring, tackles; Kelly, guard; Bryan and Owen, centers; Dixon and Howell, backs; and Musselwhite, manager.

Sutton, E. Riddle, Kistler, Robinson, and Scott were mentioned by the Charlotte News as outstanding players in the Eastern Conference.

BASKETBALL

Early in December the call was issued for the basketball team and about 25 students responded to Coach Hackney's call. Clyde Maberry, who coached last year's team through a successful season, kindly agreed to assist him in coaching. Letter men back from last year included Herman Musselwhite, center; Billy Sutton, Cecil Phillips, Grant Sears and Murray Howell, forwards; and Grissom Davis, guard.

In spite of injuries and other unfortunate accidents all through the season which crippled the team in crucial games, we had a fairly successful season.

At the end of the season the team took part in the State College Invitation Basketball Tournament held in Raleigh, and went to the semi-finals. Being the smallest team in the conference, Fayetteville was picked as a favorite to win the Class A championship after routing Greenville in the opening game, 20-5, but lost out to Lumberton in the semi-finals after defeating Sanford 12-6.

At the end of the season stars were awarded to: Billy Sutton, Grant Sears, and Murray Howell. Letters were awarded to: Charles Turlington and J. T. Kelly, centers; June Williams, forward; Ben Robinson, Bunk Sutton, and Sam Hutaff, guards; and Everette Bryan, manager.

Buddy: How's that?

Mr. Hamrick: Between second and third bass.

They all laughed when I sat down at the piano but they were held spellbound when I found a nickel to put in the slot.

"Aint this a swell affair?" said Ruth George as her jaws slowly rose with the mumps.

Muffin S: This picture was painted by hand.
Joe P: That's nothing, so was our chicken house.

BUILDERS DREAMS

VISIONS created by the imagination precede the achievement of any really great accomplishment. The ability to weave the threads of imagination into the finished fabric is equally important.

It has been the privilege of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY to interpret the ideas of the Staff and create in material form their vision.

From the art work and engravings to the finished book, this volume is the result of organized coöperation with the Staff.

Such able coöperation is one of the "visions" which precede the building of a successful business, and is a part of the working policy of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY.

To those Staffs desiring complete coöperation from art work and engravings to the finished book, we offer unexcelled service. Complete service means undivided responsibility as to the result—one organization to correspond and talk with—one trained director to merge the many ingredients into the finished product.

You, too, may be proud of your annual.
